View an e-Book found in the Library Online Catalog

What is an e-book?
===

e-Books are electronic versions of printed books. e-Books can be viewed online only on a PC connected to the Internet at the Library, or at home with your valid library card. You can view the e-Books for quick research and reference or virtually check them out using the computer and read them at your leisure.

The Library subscribes to many e-Book titles from the world's leading business, technology, trade, reference, academic, and scholarly publishers.

How do I search and view an e-Book using the Library Online Catalog?
===

1. Search the Library Online Catalog like you normally do. Titles similar to the following indicate online e-Books that are not physically stored in the library but can be viewed online:

2. Click on the title, then scroll down. Click on the link.

3. Enter your library card number to log on to the E-books database. You may need to disable your firewall or anti-virus program if errors occur. Skip this step if you are using a library Internet station.

The Library purchases e-books from different vendor. Each vendor provides its own accessing interface.
